no more fossil fuel development democratically planned economy public ownership and workers’ control of energy just transition and full employment environmental justice & indigenous sovereignty tax the rich, defund the pentagon

ecosocialism

more future
less capitalism

rising sea levels
global warming
SEXISM
TAR SANDS
WAR
police brutality
FASCISM
alienation
privatization
FRACKING
NATIONALISM
Wall Street
fossil fuels
economic crisis
transphobia
the metabolic rift
unemployment
RACISM
hunger
profit
homophobia
islamophobia
IMPERIALISM
the 6th great extinction

About System Change Not Climate Change

The current ecological crisis results from the capitalist system, which values profits for a global ruling elite over people and the planet. It must therefore be confronted through an international mass movement of working people around the world.

We are for building a multi-racial, multi-ethnic left united against the ecological destruction spawned by capitalism. Movements for sustainability and against ecological denigration must be led, to the fullest extent possible, by those who are most directly affected and who therefore have the highest stake in the outcome of the struggles we engage in.

We recognize that the exploitation and destruction of the planet is intricately linked to the exploitation and oppression of human beings. We oppose all forms of oppression including racism, sexism, xenophobia, homophobia and transphobia. We support efforts, in communities and workplaces, to overcome these barriers to collective empowerment.

We are for workers’ power and sustainability; for a society that is free, just, and equitable; that fosters human creativity and productivity while healing the rifts generated by capitalism among people and between human society and the earth’s ecology.

We fight for reforms to mitigate the effects of climate change and other ecological calamities, but recognize that social transformation is our only hope to solve the worsening crisis. As we build movements that address immediate ecological concerns it is with this revolutionary objective in mind.

We support grassroots movements and political formations that operate independently of the capitalist-controlled two-party system and oppose corporate, market-driven solutions to the climate crisis.

We are a nonsectarian coalition, maintaining a flexible and open approach to organizing in order to build as strong an environmental movement as possible. While asserting that a change to the current social and economic system is the only way out of our planet’s ecological crisis, we work with groups and individuals who have not reached the same conclusions but who nonetheless are fighting for the vital reforms necessary to mitigate the effects of capitalism’s assault on our biosphere.

Read, agitate and organize.
Join a chapter or start one in your community or on your campus.
For more info, visit www.systemchangenotclimatechange.org